

British Philosophical Association - Application for individual membership

A) Full membership is open to anyone who is competent to teach or pursue research in Philosophy, as demonstrated by their training or achievements. This includes postgraduate research students, individuals with a research degree/teaching experience but not currently employed in a teaching or research position in Philosophy, teachers of Philosophy in schools, and retired academics. If you are unsure as to your eligibility please contact the Executive Secretary at the address below. The membership fee is £15, or £8 unwaged (this includes all postgraduate research students). For full membership, please complete 1-3 & 5.

B) Associate membership is open to members of learned societies that are BPA members. The membership fee is £8. For associate membership, please complete 1-2 & 4-5.

1. Name (including title):

2. Address for correspondence (Note that some journal discounts may be available only to UK-resident members):

Email: (E-mail is the Association's main means of communicating with its members. Supply a personal rather than professional email address if you prefer. We treat such information as confidential and do not distribute it to other members.)

3. Qualification for full membership - please complete (I) or (II)

(I) currently teaching or researching Philosophy - please provide details of the institution/school, department (or equivalent unit) and status, indicating whether full-time or part-time.

(II) qualified to undertake teaching or research in Philosophy - please provide details of qualifications and/or experience.

4. Qualification for associate membership - state which society you belong to:

5. Subscription (tick a payment option)

Full membership: £15 annually (unwaged or research student: £8); associate membership: £8 annually.

I enclose a cheque for £15/£8 payable to 'The British Philosophical Association'

I wish to pay by standing order. I have sent a standing order form to my bank.

Signature: _____ Date: _____

To be returned to: Herjeet Marway, BPA Executive Secretary, c/o Philosophy Department, University of Birmingham, Birmingham B15 2TT.